PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- Learn how the health care systems are adapting to provide care for underserved populations (e.g., homeless, LGBTQ+, etc)
- Discuss medical education and share experiences with US and international medical university students and faculty
- Attend presentations and workshops on palliative care, organ donation, health disparities, mental health and work-life balance for medical professionals with providers and patients
- Practice clinical English skills through workshops

This program was an eye-opening experience for me. Seeing the world with my own eyes, interacting with other participants and learning abroad helped me realize what kind of physician I would like to be in the future. No matter what grade, gender, background, ethnicity, preferences... whoever you are, this program is welcome to everyone. I am glad that I challenged myself and came to San Francisco.
