These courses are part of degree programmes entirely or partly taught in English. ◆ A full time study load per semester is typically 30 credits. We recommend taking 24-30 credits with a minimum of 21 credits. ◆ Students can decide to live in Leuven, but follow classes in Brussels and viceversa. However, students cannot combine courses from different campuses. ◆ The course offer differs per campus: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Antwerp campus has management and business courses mainly on a bachelor level in for example finance, accounting and harbour logistics. Groups tend to be small and teaching hands-on. (Campus Antwerp has some interesting Business courses with a focus on Maritime and Port Management) ● Brussels campus has a strong focus on business administration and management (both bachelor and master entirely in English with additional minors). ● Leuven campus has a smaller offer for bachelor students but has a large offer for master students with many interesting courses in economics, business economics and business engineering.
